Wedding at Six Senses Ibiza

Australian singer and jewelry designer Bella Hunter and RH CEO Gary Friedman celebrated their glamorous "I do" with a lavish four-day wedding extravaganza at Six Senses Ibiza. The barefoot bride wore a show-stopping, beaded and bejeweled champagne gown by Professor Jimmy Choo, embroidered throughout with personal quotes and the couple's family names, while the groom donned a custom Brunello Cucinelli tuxedo. From a sunset ceremony beneath olive trees and crystal chandeliers to a night of Mediterranean cuisine, fireworks, and dancing until dawn, the celebration was a fashionable and unforgettable tribute to love and luxury.

Wedding at Villa San Michele

Professional tennis player Carol Zhao and DoorDash cofounder Andy Fang celebrated their wedding with a multi-day, fashion-forward affair in Florence, Italy. For the welcome dinner at La Loggia, the bride wore a cream Schiaparelli dress that complemented the venue's architectural elegance. A surprise picnic followed, featuring vintage Italian cars and Vespas transporting guests to a 15th-century estate, with Carol in a flowy white Khaite dress and Bottega Veneta flats. The ceremony at Belmond Villa San Michele showcased Carol in an off-the-shoulder Elie Saab gown from the Spring 2024 collection, set against a backdrop of pink and white florals. For the reception, Carol later changed into a fully embroidered Elie Saab gown from the Spring 2025 collection.

Wedding at Chateau de la Croix des Gardes

Set against the French Riviera at the historic Château de la Croix des Gardes, this grand wedding was the epitome of glamour with the bride turning heads in a custom couture Dolce & Gabbana gown. A custom-built glass tent featured uninterrupted views of the surrounding hills and sea, blending the beauty of nature with architectural elegance. Inside, crystal chandeliers hung majestically overhead, casting a warm glow on the sweeping lavender-toned floral arrangements and soft-hued linens that defined the romantic color palette. The unforgettable evening merged Old World charm with modern sophistication.

Jennifer & Ben Wedding

Jennifer Lopez and Ben Affleck celebrated their marriage with a lavish weekend at their estate Georgia, where fashion took center stage. The bride stunned in three custom Ralph Lauren gowns, beginning with a dramatic ceremony dress featuring over 1,000 hand-cut handkerchiefs and 500 meters of fabric, forming a voluminous ruffled skirt and cascading sleeve details, paired with a cathedral-length veil. For the reception, she changed into a chandelier-inspired gown adorned with hand-embroidered pearls and Swarovski crystals, a masterpiece crafted by 30 artisans over 700 hours. Her final look of the night was a sleek mermaid silhouette with a crystal-embellished keyhole neckline and a removable organza hood, epitomizing modern bridal glamour.

Wedding at Villa Bonomi

Carleigh & Ged's wedding on Lake Como was truly magical. With around 80 guests, the celebration struck the perfect balance between intimacy, refined elegance, and the breathtaking natural beauty of the Italian lakes. Festivities began with a scenic boat tour, offering guests a chance to take in the charm and grandeur of Italy's most romantic lake from the water. That evening, a rehearsal dinner at Villa Flori set the tone for the weekend —timeless elegance, joyful laughter, and a sense of excited anticipation.

The wedding day itself took place at the stunning Villa Bonomi, a hidden gem nestled in the hills above the lake. With panoramic views across the Lake Como basin, the venue created a cinematic backdrop where nature and architecture met in perfect harmony. Even a touch of rain during the reception added to the enchantment—guests embraced the moment, dancing beneath string lights and candlelight, surrounded by love, joy, and the unmistakable atmosphere of Lake Como.

Wedding at Private Home in New Orleans

Beneath the warm, storied skies of New Orleans, a private family home became the setting for Sophie and John's wedding. After a heartfelt ceremony, guests spilled into the street for a jubilant second line parade, winding through the neighborhood with brass band rhythms, waving handkerchiefs, and joyful shouts echoing between the houses. Dinner awaited in a custom glass tent, where cascading pink and green florals softened the space beneath crystal chandeliers. An incredible band kept the dance floor alive deep into the night, their music carrying on the summer air. As the evening sweetened, heart-shaped beignets were passed around, a whimsical and delicious nod to the city's culinary soul. It was a night where New Orleans magic lingered in every detail.

Wedding at Ashford Castle

Jewelry designer Michelle Campbell Mason and real estate developer Zach Vella celebrated their wedding with a multi-day, fashion-forward affair at the historic Ashford Castle in Ireland. Michelle's bridal wardrobe featured custom gowns by Maiyet, including a silk ceremony dress with a low-draped back and a hooded cape, and a nude tulle reception dress adorned with handpicked beading. She accessorized with diamond earrings and a back necklace that draped into her gown's open back. The reception, set against the castle's lake, showcased a bohemian forest theme with hanging branches and candles, culminating in a fireworks display and dancing that lasted until dawn.

Thank you!

People will forget what you said,
people will forget what you did,
but people will never forget how you made them feel.
